

Construction Update – 8th November 2017

This notification is regarding the Public Domain works.

Public Domain Work

Please be aware that we are now closing the main entry gates to the site from Redfern station. Effective 1pm today, all pedestrians will be required to use Cornwallis Street to access the site.

The bike racks have been relocated from the entry garden near the station, to the pocket park at the rear of the National Innovation Centre building.

Please note: You are no longer able to access Innovation Plaza via the Locomotive Workshops. The glass doors to the Blacksmith area will be closed until work is finalised. Please use Locomotive Street, and Cornwallis street to make your way around the precinct.

If you have any questions or concerns on the above, or if you require more information, please contact me at atp.communications@mirvac.com or call 1800 870 549.

Kind regards, Kim
